

Amy,

OMGGGG HAPPY FUCKING BIRTHDAY AMY!!! I AM SO EXCITED FOR YOU AND FOR THE TRIP AND JUST EVERYTHING AND I HOPE ITS NOTHING BUT SLAY!! I just have a few things to say and of course it's your birthday you're going to get a letter, which is where we are going to start. The first birthday you had when we met is when I gave you the very first of many letters and a marshmallow pillow because your nickname at that time was Marsh because you were sweet. A lot has happened since then and now you're 22 years old and it's amazing to see how far you've come from when we met. Each and every day you accomplish so much and that all has piled up to make you the amazing woman that you are today, and I am honored to call you my friend. I want to just say that it's your birthday and for that you get whatever you want, and I will say you deserve nothing but the best. The way you have supported me so much over the years and helped me grow as not only a giving person but as a better friend for you has been amazing and all the times we've gotten to spend together really means a lot to me. Now you're 22, graduating college and I cannot wait to see what else you accomplish, and I know there's going to be so much.

Over the years I've known you I had never thought that we would of gotten so close and built this much of a friendship. You are the most amazing, vibrant, and caring person that I know who helps others and still slays herself each and every day and it's just so amazing to see. That's why for your birthday this year I want to bring you to build-a-bear because as many squish mellows as you have I want you to have something custom to you and something to just remind you that you built that bear just like you've helped me and so many others build ourselves up. I admire what you do and just being friends with you has made become a better person and friend. You do so much for me each and every day and I appreciate that so much.

I know we had a time in which we didn't talk and that was a rough patch in this friendship however we came out of it during your 21st birthday and it has gotten so strong ever since. I just want to say that the past year with you seeing you grow into an internship thriving, giving hall advisor, student coordinator, and so much more has been so amazing and fun to watch because you are the definition of hard work and I see that in you so much. I know sometimes birthdays can be hard because of the uncertainty ahead but I want you to know that you're going to kill it like you always have and no matter what you are my girly pop and I love you, I'm here for you and so is Anything Anytime Amy (AAA). You're a great person and I've seen you grow into this amazing woman and I am so Pussy Popping Proud of you!! I love you and hope you have an amazing day!!

X

Edward
Girly Pop

Edward

have A great Day